We did a Creation Science Camp in June at a place north of us called Whisper Canyon Camp. We had 60 plus parents and kids. Russ built a “Dinosaur Trail” to show God’s handiwork through the animals he created. Russ compared the blood circulator system of the Giraffe to the Apatosaurus (Long neck) dinosaur. He built a 5 foot tall stick model of a gorilla to show the similarities and major differences between them and humans. Many expressed that the trail was a real highlight of the camp. We also visited a canyon that showed clear evidence of Noah’s flood strata and how it accumulated over the Flood year. That same day we visited an Indian cave where they lived for hundreds of years.(Photo attached)

Since January I have been remodeling the museum for a new exhibit. It is called “Inventor’s Workshop - Life Changing Events” and goes with the classes I am teaching this year in the Exploring God’s Basement Series. The goal is to show how humans, made in God’s image, have used their abilities to glorify God with their inventions and discoveries. In the last 300 years since Sir Isaac Newton, most of the major scientific breakthroughs have been made by Christian men and women seeking to glorify God with their work. We highlight about a dozen of them in class and at the museum. Lise Meitner, a Christian Jew who discovered how to create atomic power such as we have in the A Bomb, our nuclear powered electric generator plants and naval vessels. Another is R G LeTourneau, the man who revolutionized the earthmoving industry with his inventions. Samuel Morse, who believed he could send messages using electricity which resulted in telegraphy. Morse was the first to find a practical use for electricity after Ben Franklin’s study of it some 80 years before.

We have three “galleries” now. 1. The permanent Dinosaur exhibit. 2. Egypt/Hebrew display and programs. 3. The Inventor’s Workshop Exhibit. It is mostly on wheels so some artifacts can be displayed outside in our parking lot so we have more room to move around in the museum.

We have had several groups come to the museum the first quarter. Benji, a man next door to the museum who makes cabinets is also the youth leader at a church two blocks away. We have done four Sunday School classes with his kids including two meetings at the museum. He especially wanted me to “Crush” Bill Nye the Science Guy. Benji’s kids are all in public school where they are showing Nye’s science videos. I have written a series of rebuttals to many of his anti-Christian and anti-Bible quotes. (About 15 of them to date) I show that he does not really know science and I present scientific data that he leaves out but that supports a Biblical world view. Benji says the kids have really gotten their faith in the Bible built up from the classes and do not feel so intimidated by Bill Nye’s godless humanistic teachings that they hear in school.

We moved to another house we are buying in June. It was hectic but many hands helped and we made the move. The house is smaller so we are downsizing. It is in a nice community and we really like it here. It is costing us less per month.

Please pray for our friends the McNamara family – their father and husband went to be with the Lord in June from a massive stroke. He was a great help to us and in our homeschool and was only 60. We will miss him greatly.

Answered Prayer:

1 Tricia is better from her Acute Pancreatitis. 2 We made it through the move. 3 One of the Mixteco girls Tricia has been discipling from JJC got her GED, and graduated from high school. She lost about a year of classes while in jail. She has been sharing with others her age what Tricia taught her and also her family is more open to the gospel. She works in the field picking strawberries [very hard work] and is very responsible to care for her baby.

Thank you for your prayers and support. In Him, Russ and Tricia
