

Biography of David Coppedge

David Coppedge (B.S. Secondary Education, B.S. Astrophysics) worked at JPL on the Cassini mission for 14 years, from before launch into the second extended mission. A very active creationist, he has led the southern California Bible-Science Association 25 years, and is a popular speaker and writer, having written for ICR, CMI, the Discovery Institute, and his own science news website, Creation-Evolution Headlines [<http://crev.info>] for 20 years. He also founded a creation hiking club called Creation Safaris [<http://creationsafaris.com>], which he has led for 36 years. He has also been on the board of Illustra Media since its inception 22 years ago, and serves as a science consultant. [<http://illustramedia.com> or <http://thejohn1010project.com>]