

The Truth About Giants

Adam Schwartzbauer

Thousands of years ago, the earth was different than it is today. Man was roaming the earth, but there were also creatures of great stature; colossal creatures that caused death and horror. These were one of mankind's greatest enemies: the Nephilim. Here, we will examine the origin of these Nephilim, (also known as giants), and their history.

One of the world's greatest mysteries is the giants. We know they existed from historical records, artifacts, ruins, and excavations of the giants themselves, among other things; but who were these giants? Genesis 6 states: "There were giants in the earth in those days..." The Hebrew term Nephilim, translated as giants, comes from the verb nephal, meaning "to fall." Genesis 6 states the giants come from a union between the sons of God and the daughters of men. Job 1:6 states: "Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan came also among them." The angels are referred to as the sons of God. Satan, an angel, was with them.

Cultures throughout the world speak of a time when gods mated with human women, producing giants. The Book of Enoch, which is quoted from by Jude, the Lord's brother, states in chapter 6: "...angels...lusted after them..., let us choose us wives...and beget us children..." Chapter 10 says: "...Watchers...left the high heaven, the holy eternal place..." The Watchers decided to leave heaven. According to Enoch, 200 angels left heaven in the days of Jared, descended to Mount Hermon, and mated with women. Chapter 15 says: "say to the Watchers...You should intercede for men, and not men for you...have ye left the high, holy, and eternal heaven... begotten giants (as your) sons..." There is a distinction between men and Watchers. Jude 1:6 says: "And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, He hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day." Who are these angles if it's not referring to the angels that mated with women, and had giants?

Some say the sons of God couldn't have been angels because of these references: Matthew 22:30: "For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in heaven." Mark 12:25: "For when they shall rise from the dead, they neither marry, nor are given in marriage; but are as the angels which are in heaven." If this was referring to all angels, why would it add the words "in heaven"? Jude 1:6 says: "And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, He hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day." It appears that God set up a rule that angels shouldn't marry. They don't marry in heaven. But, this doesn't say anything about outside of heaven. These angels didn't want to follow God's rules.

Jude 1:7 says: "Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them, in like manner giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire." It appears that the flood was sent for the same reason that Sodom and Gomorrha were destroyed: genetic corruption. According to the Apocryphal books Ecclesiasticus and the Book of Jubilees, there were giants living in Sodom and Gomorrah. When the Bible speaks of people going after strange flesh, some have said it's referring to homosexuality. Why would God destroy Sodom and Gomorrha for homosexuality, when he isn't destroying people for that today? God only destroys things when it's necessary.

Apparently, the goal of the fallen angels was to destroy everything that God made. They were also genetically mixing animals, plants, and humans together. Ancient literature and artwork is full of examples of creatures that are part of one creature, and part of another, as well as gods and giants. It is commonly thought that these stories are myths; but are they? There are many records of beings that are part man, and part god, such as Hercules, Achilles, and Gilgamesh. Some of the references of genetic manipulation can be found in the Book of Enoch and the Book of Jubilees. The Book of Jasher, chapter 4 says: "...the sons of men in those days took from the cattle of the earth, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the air, and taught the mixture of animals of one species with the other..." This can only be understood as genetic engineering, advanced biotechnology, or "transgenic modification" of kinds. This also explains why Saul was told to go in and kill all of the people and all of the animals. God doesn't order the killing of innocent people. All of the people and animals in that city had genetic corruption. Ecclesiastes says there is no new thing under the sun. Today, genetic engineering is taking place. That means it must have happened before.

When God sent the flood, all life was killed, except for the life on the ark. God had to destroy the corrupt flesh. This same type of genetic manipulation is happening today. The hybrids are either mixed together in a lab, or somehow something was done to the creatures so that the genetic boundaries were shut down, enabling them to produce offspring with other kinds of creatures. What some want is to create a posthuman like a super soldier, who will be considered vastly superior to normal homo sapiens...like Nietzsche's Übermensch. Work towards this goal has been going on for sometime, and knowledge in this area is growing at a rapid pace.

1 Peter 3:19-20 says: "By which also He went and preached unto the spirits in prison, Which sometime were disobedient, when once the longsuffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved by water." Who were these spirits in prison that were disobedient in the days of Noah when the ark was being prepared? 2 Peter 2:4-6 says: "For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment; And spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly; And turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrha into ashes condemned them with an overthrow, making them an ensample unto those that after should live ungodly;"

What angels is this referring to if not those in Genesis 6?

The Hebrew term that was translated as "sons of God" was B'nai HaElohim. This term is used in the Old Testament only in reference to angels. The Hebrew term that was translated as "the daughters of men" is Benoth Adam, meaning "the daughters of Adam." This refers to all female descendents of mankind. In Genesis 3, God says to the devil: "...I will put enmity...between thy seed and her seed..." The Hebrew word that is translated as seed is zera, meaning "offspring, descendants." This indicates that the devil is going to have seed. 1

Corinthians 11:10 says: “For this cause ought the woman to have power on her head because of the angels.” What is this talking about if not to prevent angels mating with women?

Job 38 says: “Then the Lord answered Job...when I laid the foundations of the earth...all the sons of God shouted for joy?” Before man was created, all angels were faithful to God.

Genesis 6 says: “...Noah was...perfect in his generations...” This doesn’t mean that he was morally pure; there was no-one perfect except Jesus. The word translated as “perfect” is tamiym, meaning “without blemish, without spot.” This term is used for physical blemishes, and was also used to describe animals that were to be sacrificed to God. If the giants were from an earthly lineage, and Noah was from an earthly lineage, why would it refer to Noah as being physically pure? Pure of what?

Genesis 6:12 says: “...all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth.” There were also giants after the flood. Remember that in the Old Testament God gave instructions, upon entering Canaan, to wipe out all men, women, and children of certain tribes that inhabited the land.

Let’s examine what made the giants so big. Could it be from gigantism? Gigantism makes you taller, skinny, and weak. Your arms and legs are disproportionately longer. All of the giants described through history have been extremely large and strong. While it may be possible for someone with gigantism to be 8 feet or more, the Nephilim were much larger.

Another theory is that environmental conditions were responsible for their size: since other things grew so big before the flood, people could too under those conditions. In the fossil record, there are evidences of giants, but also of regular sized people. There is also evidence of very large plants and animals, but also of regular sized plants and animals. The giants couldn’t be examples of genetic variability within humans, because that would have been horrendous in child birth. There is some variety in the sizes of people: around 6 feet tall. But, there is a limit. Some giraffes have longer necks than others, but you will never get a giraffe with a hundred foot neck.

Deuteronomy 3:11 says: “(For only Og king of Bashan remained of the remnant of giants; behold, his bedstead was a bedstead of iron; is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon? nine cubits was the length thereof, and four cubits the breadth of it, after the cubit of a man.)” If giants were just big people, it wouldn’t say “after the cubit of a man”; it would say “after the cubit of a regular man.”

Human DNA has a limit to how large a person can be; angel DNA may not have that limit. When an angel and a human have offspring, the angel DNA may override the human’s. Or, it could be that the growth factor is just shut off when an angel and a human mix?

The giant offspring might grow like reptiles do: throughout their life. I have always wondered why there were giants of such different sizes. The only way to explain it is that the giants would grow throughout their life. The older they are, the taller they are. Age determines size. Also, we don’t know if the angelic growth rate is the same than humans.

Is it possible that the angels deliberately altered the DNA in mixing with human women in order to deliberately create giant beings for the purpose of having control?

(By the way, if they were creating giants, is it possible that they were also creating little people? Just a thought.)

How big were these giants? When most people think of giants, they think of them as being 10 to 12 feet tall at the most. There were giants that height, but there were also giants much bigger than this. Giants have been excavated all over the world, and range from 7 feet tall, to the 2 largest giant skeletons ever found being 36 feet tall, found by the Carthaginians between 200 and 600 B.C. Also found were molars the size of your fist, and teeth that weigh several ounces each.

If a giant was twice as tall as you, you would think he would be twice as big as you. But, this isn't true. He would actually be 8 times as big as you. He would be twice the width, twice the height, and twice the breadth. 2 times 2 times 2. They would also be much louder and much faster than normal people.

Some characteristics of the giants are that they had 6 fingers, 6 toes, and double rows of teeth. For them, these were normal, and not mutations. When they spoke, there is evidence they did not sound like normal people.

It appears as if Hitler's Aryan race was real: tall, blonde haired, blue eyed giants, which were possibly the Celtic giants. He wanted to create a super race, which the giants were. Hitler was looking for the DNA of the giants and the sarcophaguses of the Tibetan giants in the Himalayas. It is interesting that the word Nepal is so similar to the Hebrew term Nephel, meaning "to fall". The Nazis were looking for the genetic material to re-create the ancient gods.

History is full of accounts of Nephilim; it seems historians have done their best to keep this fact hidden from the public. Most fighters and explorers that kept journals wrote of encounters with these monsters. The Romans wrote of 17 foot tall Celtic giants that the legions fought with. Others, such as Amerigo Vespucci, Sir Francis Drake, De Soto, Coronado, and Narvaez, all mention encounters with giants they had on their journeys. These are documented, eyewitness sightings. Pedro Castaneda, who accompanied Coronado, wrote about the Cocopa Indian tribe, that they were giants, and could carry logs that 6 Spaniards couldn't budge. As Stephen Quayle says, "Archaeologists often discover these large bones in graves. But these are usually dismissed as being the bones of "mastodons"—a premise that's hard to justify given the fact that the creatures are often buried in human graves wearing battle armor along with a shield and massive sword"(Genesis 6 Giants, pages 190-191.)

There are also archaeological remnants that prove the existence of giants. One example is a place in Bolivia, 30 kilometers from Lake Titicaca. There are gigantic stone platforms all over the place; the largest was once 29 meters long and has been calculated to weigh 900 tons. This place is 4,100 meters high in the Andes Mountains. Nothing grows there. It's not possible to transport a 900 ton platform without any wooden rollers; even with them, it would've been complicated. The Pre-Incan Indians, the Aymara, couldn't have possibly moved it into place. Could these gigantic ruins have been built by gigantic people?

Another place is on the Mediterranean island of Malta; the people there have an ancient belief that their island was known as the last stronghold of the giants of Europe. This island has gigantic temples; one is in Gozo, and is still called Ticantilla, meaning "the temple of giants." One of the local legends there says that the temple was built by a giantess Sunsuna. The blocks are so huge and heavy that no normal human could move them.

Another ancient megalithic site is in Ollantaytambo, Peru. There are gigantic fortress walls made of andesite rock. The walls have tightly fitted blocks that weigh from 150 to 250 tons each. The quarry is 7 miles away on a mountaintop. To make these walls, the builders would have to have dressed and carved the stones at an altitude of 10,000 feet, lowered them down the mountainside, crossed a river canyon with 1,000 foot sheer rock walls, and finally raised the blocks up another mountain and fitted them into place. Does this really make sense? No human beings could have built it. It must have been gigantic beings who built it.

Perhaps one of the best evidences of giants are the ruins of Baalbek, Lebanon. More recent Roman ruins are built on top of megalithic, ancient ruins of unknown origin. The largest stones in the world that were ever used for construction are there, and called the Trilithon. They are so big that we don't know their actual weight. The stones were quarried, moved 5 miles, lifted 25 or 30 feet in the air, and were fit together so closely that you can't fit a piece of paper between them. We don't have any idea how they did it. There's no crane in the world that can lift anywhere near those weights. According to Arab tradition, the earliest temples there were built after the great flood by a race of giants—for the biblical king Nimrod.

More astounding evidence for giants comes from ancient Egypt. It's said that during the Old Kingdom period, the first 3 pharaohs were conceived by a priest of Ra after having intercourse with the god Ra. It's this that made all the pharaohs believe that they themselves are direct descendants of gods; pharaoh means "son of Ra." With further occurrences of giants after the flood, some of these offspring were called Rephaim, after one Rapha. Is it possible that this Rapha, who was from the area of Canaan, could be the same Ra who was the father of the first three pharaohs? These areas were only a couple hundred miles from each other, so travel and access was relatively easy. When Abraham and Sara passed through Canaan, the entire area was populated by the descendants of Raphaim, Anakim, and Nephilim. When David killed Goliath, remnants of these giants still lived in the land. There is evidence that the descendants of the Nephilim were in the general area of Canaan, which was close to, and actually a province of Egypt, at one time. It is logical to conclude that these beings were heavily involved in the affairs in Egypt. Rafah is a town about 20 miles south of what today is Gaza on the border between Israel and Egypt. This town's ancient name was Rapha. It is likely that the Rapha, after whom the town was named, was either a post-flood Nephilim, or one of their descendants. Not only this, but when one studies ancient Egypt, they find that it's covered with images of giants.

Strange skulls are found around the world, including Mexico and Peru. These skulls are larger than normal skulls and are elongated. They are supposedly from head binding, but the evidence suggests otherwise: that the skulls naturally grew that way, and were from giants.

A giant from history was Aymon, who was a member of the Archduke Ferdinand's bodyguard. He was said to stand 11 feet tall. For many years, a carved wooden likeness of him was in the Castle of Ambras in the Tyrol Alpines.

In 1705, at the foot of the Crussol mountain range in France, another giant skeleton was recovered: that of the giant Bucart, the famed "tyrant of the Vivarais." . The skeleton was 22 ½ feet tall.

In Roy Norvill's book: Giants, he reports that the bones 22 feet tall were recovered from a grave near Valencia, Spain.

The naturalist John Riolan says that the tomb of Isoret could be seen near St. Germain at the close of the 16th century. The giant was 20 feet tall.

In 1509, an ancient tomb was uncovered by ditch diggers in Rouen, France. In the tomb was a skeleton over 17 feet tall in his armor. The following engraved identification was affixed to the tomb: "In this tomb lies the noble and puissant lord, the Chevalier Ricon de Vallemont, and his bones."

The Journal Litteraire of the Abbé Nazari reports the skeleton of a giant that was exhumed in Calabria, Italy. The skeleton was eighteen roman feet. The man's teeth weighed at least an ounce each.

John Cassanio, in his book De Gigantibus, told of Francis 1 of France (1494-1547), who saw a giant in Bordeaux that was so tall that he enlisted him as one of his guards. Apparently, this giant was so tall that normal sized men could walk between his legs.

Romans encountered giants at the little river Allia in 387 B.C. The Senone giants made the Roman army make a hasty retreat. When Rome heard this, practically the whole population fled the city. Shortly thereafter, the giants burned Rome to the ground.

Hector Boetiu's History of Scotland relates that the bones of a Scottish giant who was nicknamed "Little John" were 14 feet long, and could still be seen in his day.

Evidence of giants has also been found in Australia. In 1970 Dr. Rex Gilroy, the director of the Mount York Natural History Museum at Mount Victoria, New South Wales, examined huge fossilized footprints. He began excavations in the area and has collected enough evidence to prove that there was a race of giants that lived on Australia. Gilroy also found stone implements, hand axes, clubs, and other tools that were so large that only giants that had extra large hands and strength could have made any beneficial use of them. The utensils often weighed from 8 to 25 lbs. Also found were giant molars, as well as other fossilized footprints that measured up to 30 inches in length. "The implications are that men of 12 to 20 feet in height once roamed this continent" (Norvill, Giants: The Vanished Race, page 11.)

A giant from the Middle Ages was Saint Christopher. According to his peers, he was a member of a tribe of dog-headed, cannibalistic giants. Jacques de Voragine writes about Saint Christopher in his book "The Golden Legend": "He was of gigantic stature, had a terrifying mien, was twelve coud—es tall." According to this account, Saint Christopher was between 12 and 18 feet tall. This fact has become eliminated from church history. While the Western icons of him do not show him as a giant, the icons of the Eastern churches do. In historic accounts it is suggested that he was the offspring of a human being and an Anubis.

Another historian who referenced giants was Josephus. He wrote in "Antiquities, 5.2.3.": "And when they had taken it, they slew all the inhabitants. There were till then left a race of giants, who had bodies so large, and countenances so entirely different from other men, that they were surprising to the sight, and terrible to the hearing. The bones of these men are still shown this very day, unlike to any credible relations of other men. He also wrote other things about giants, including that the King of Persia sent a Jew called Eleazar the Giant to Rome along with other hostages as part of a peace agreement. The giant stood 7 cubits tall, which would be over 10 feet tall.

Another characteristic of giants is that they engaged in homosexual acts. According to Athenaeus, the giants were accustomed to sleeping with 2 boys. According to the historian Diodorus: "Although their wives are comely, they have little to do with them, but rage with lust in outlandish fashion for the embraces of males" (Diodorus, 5.32)

Many giants in the Bible are from after the flood. It appears from various records that giants are also alive today. For example, in the Solomon Islands, there may be a race of giants living today.

Giants were cannibals; it appears that cannibalism started with giants, who spread it to others. Luke 17:26 says: "And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man." Daniel 2:43 says: "...they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave to one another, even as iron is not mixed with clay." Will the Nephilim be involved in the coming of the antichrist?

Some say it's not theologically important whether the sons of God were the angels or not. It was the reason the flood was sent. It was why Saul was told to kill all the inhabitants. It was why Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed. It may play a big role in the future tribulation. I'll let you decide.
