Beowulf the Dragon Slayer—Truth or Fantasy?

7:30 PM, May 18, 2010, Nazareth Hall Chapel, Northwestern College, Roseville, MN

A colorful presentation by Russ McGlenn on literature that tells of ancient people killing dinosaurs. Featured will be dinosaur models and weapons used to slay dracans (dragons) the old English name for dinosaurs. When people studied Beowulf in high school, the traditional interpretation of the poem was that it was a fantasy about ancient Danish peoples and their fight with trolls. No one took it seriously. It was made into a movie a few years back that continued this myth. Bill Cooper, an English language scholar, has written a book called "After the Flood." He makes a good argument for Beowulf being a historical figure killing Dinosaurs as described in the poem. Russ will bring to life this incredible historical record using models, reenactments, and colorful Power Point slides. If you have a sword, dagger, shield, helmet and want to bring it to the meeting to display please do so (carefully) or want to come dressed in ancient battle gear. Two prizes will be given one for the weapon that best fits Beowulf's dragon slayer sword or dagger and one for the best costume. All meetings are free and open to the public, an offering will be accepted.

Writing Contest

You have until May 15 to get your paper turned in to be considered for a prize. This is open to any student through 12th grade. Authors may be asked to read their paper at one of our meetings.

We want to encourage young people to consider being a scientist, author, teacher or just to enhance their understanding of God's creation.

Have you considered...

...a world without birds. An entomologist estimated that one pair of Colorado potato beetles, if allowed to freely live, would increase to over 60 million in one season. One female fly starting in May would produce 143,875 bushels of flies by August. Aphids, in one season can produce over 13 generations, the result - ten sextillion aphids. Imagine the amount of insects that could be in the world. Fortunately, birds have a large appetite for insects. One scarlet tanager can eat over 600 gypsy moth caterpillars in 18 minutes. A man in Michigan estimated chickadees eat over 8 billion insects in one year, many of which are canker worms. Birds keep the insect population in balance. Evolutionists say that birds did not evolve until many millions of years after insects! If birds were not around, insects would have decimated the world's vegetation. The world would have been a bleak place with little or no life. What we see is actually what God said, that He created both birds and insects during His creation week.

...stop and consider God's wonders

TCCSA's STATEMENT OF BELIEF

We believe in God: The Father, Son and Holy Spirit. We believe that the Bible is the inspired Word of God, and that all of its assertions are historically and scientifically true in the original autographs; this means that the account of origins in Genesis is a factual presentation of actual historical truths.

We believe that the origin of matter and all basic types of living things, including man, came about through direct creative acts of God during the six-day creation week described in Genesis. Whatever biological changes have occurred since the creation week have accomplished only changes within the created kinds.

We believe that the great flood described in Genesis, commonly referred to as the Noachian Flood, was an historic event, world-wide in extent and effect.

We accept the account of the special creation of Adam and Eve as the first man and woman. Their subsequent fall into sin, by disobedience of God's direct command, is the basis for our belief in the necessity of a Savior for all mankind.

Therefore, we believe that Jesus Christ is our Lord and only Savior and that personal faith in Him is necessary for salvation.
