Scientific Evidence for the Inspiration of the Bible

Tuesday March 17, 7:30 PM, Nazareth Hall Great Room, Univ. of Northwestern, 3003 N Snelling

Everything we believe as Christians rests on the assumption that the Bible is actually the inspired, error-free Word of God -- but how do we know that? It's not politically correct to believe the Bible alone is the inspired Word of God and most Christians cannot defend this belief. Are we to exercise blind faith, or is there a great body of evidence supporting this crucial point? This topic presents incredible scientific evidence showing beyond doubt that the Bible is truly the inspired Word of God!

Jay Seegert is co-founder and principal lecturer for the The Starting Point Project. He holds degrees in Physics & Engineering. Check him out at www.thestartingpointproject.com

Note: location is different this month. All Meetings are free and open to the public, an offering will be accepted.

Have You Considered ...

... Saturn's rings. Seen through a telescope these rings appear solid. Yet with more high-tech telescopes thousands of rings closely set together are revealed. Each ring is composed of billions of particles of dust, rocks, and ice. They can range in size from a grain of sand to a house. Each ring orbits at its own rate. The rings are very thin and flat, ranging from 32 feet thick (10 meters), up to .6 miles (1 kilometer). The only reason we can see the rings from Earth is because the planet is tilted. One of the rings even looks braided! The rings and gaps are so distinct that they are even given names. Evolutionists believe the rings developed billions of years ago when objects like an asteroids, comets or moons crashed and left its debris circling. When Cassini a spacecraft went to Saturn it measured the rings gravitation pull and found it was too light for the rings to have lasted billions of years. Also, spacecraft Cassini revealed that the icy rings were too clean to be billions of years old. Astronomers are recognizing that the age of the rings are young. How old is the Universe? When we do the math of the genealogies in the bible, we find the universe is some 6,000 years old. Does Saturn's rings give evidence of a young universe, yes!

The heavens declare the glory of God; And the firmament shows His handiwork. ~ Psalm 19:1 (NKJV)

How will you spend your summer? Often we make plans for a great family vacation or take some weekends to spend as a family. You can get Julie Von Vett's DVDs on vacations at one of our meetings. You may want to consider digging fossils as a family adventure, check this out www.everythingfossil.com/digs. How about keeping the kids active or engaged while you are working? There are many web sites just for kids that are safe to let them roam around in. We will pass some along in upcoming issues so stay tuned.

TCCSA's STATEMENT OF BELIEF

We believe in God: The Father, Son and Holy Spirit. We believe that the Bible is the inspired Word of God, and that all of its assertions are historically and scientifically true in the original autographs; this means that the account of origins in Genesis is a factual presentation of actual historical truths. We believe that the origin of matter and all basic types of living things, including man, came about through direct creative acts of God during the six-day creation week described in Genesis. Whatever biological changes have occurred since the creation week have accomplished only changes within the created kinds. We believe that the great flood described in Genesis, commonly referred to as the Noachian Flood, was an historic event, world-wide in extent and effect. We accept the account of the special creation of Adam and Eve as the first man and woman. Their subsequent fall into sin, by disobedience of God's direct command, is the basis for our belief in the necessity of a Savior for all mankind. Therefore, we believe that Jesus Christ is our Lord and only Savior and that personal faith in Him is necessary for salvation.
