

Twin Cities

Creation Science Association

Tuesday, September 17, 2013, 7:30 pm

God's Little Ocean-cleaning Engineers

Russ McGlenn of Adventure Safaris

University of Northwestern - St. Paul (Northwestern College)
3003 North Snelling, Roseville, MN, Totino FAC2128 (old 116),

For updates and more information, visit www.tccsa.tc

The earth is not a fragile, precarious system constantly susceptible to complete destruction by every casual carelessness of the human race. Instead it is an amazingly designed self-correcting ecosystem that can tolerate and reverse all sorts of insults. A prime example is a little known but crucially important inhabitant of the ocean that performs several vital functions.

Of course, God created human beings to be stewards of the earth and to properly use its resources for good. Also, some day the earth we know will be replaced by a renewed version, the world as it was intended to be.